

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

This invention relates to gp41 peptide derivatives that are inhibitors of viral infection and/or exhibit antifusogenic properties. In particular, this invention relates to gp41 derivatives having inhibiting activity against human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) and simian immunodeficiency virus (SIV) with enhanced duration of action for the treatment of the respective viral infections.